LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

THE REFORM CARNIVAL WHEN TILDEN WAS THOUGHT ELECTED—THE SUDDEN REACTION—FEELING OF REPUBLICANS—PUBLIC SENTIMENT AND AFFAIRS AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22, 1876.

There is not the slightest doubt that the ex-rebel and intensely copperhead adherents of the Ku-Klux Democracy, temporarily and permanently residing in this city, enjoyed their supposed triumph for the space of twelve hours to the top of their bent. From the reception of the first return on Tuesday evening, up to mid-day of Wednesday, misled by the lying despatches sent by rebel manipulators of the telegraph, South, the impression was everywhere prevalent that Morrissey and his pals had gambled the "Reformer" into the White House after the 4th of March. Every vile groggery in town was resonant with the sounds of drunken revelry, stimulated thereto by the seeming victory of their candidate; and other places of Democratic resort, quite as disreputable, were crowded by their habitues, shouting, yelling, singing, swearing—utterly wild—delirious, even—from exuberance of spirit—excess of joy. The infection spread with the proverbial speed of evil tidings, cheers for Tilden and Jeff Davis were of continual recurrence during the night, and the maudlin drivel of some benzine-saturated reformer in the street, impartially consigning "Yankees, carpet-baggers" and "d——d niggers" to the pit, deprived many a staid citizen of his accustomed rest. Republicans, stunned—almost paralyzed by the suddenness of the blow and the extent of the disaster—cowered and quailed at first under the taunts and insolence of an exultant enemy, but rallied, and by Wednesday evening the latter were so badly demoralized by the punishment received and doubts of Tilden's election which had now become general, that they slunk away under cover of the early darkness to the regular places of Democratic rendezvous and to which they have mostly confined their wanderings since.

THE TILDEN-MORRISSEY GAMBLING CAMPAIGN.

Under the inspiration of the Boss Reformer, Morrissey, betting upon the result of the November election became very active after those in October; and the dupes who will lose stores, houses, shops, saloons—every visible means of living for themselves, and, in many cases, large families dependent on them, in case Hayes is declared elected, may be counted by scores. It seems hardly credible that any sane man could be so utterly idiotic as to stake his business even, which insures a comfortable support, on the uncertain chances of an election. But it holds true of many in this city, who, implicitly relying upon the assurances of Hewitt's bombastic manifestoes, staked all they had. The mania was not confined to the fraternity of professional gamblers but was propagated from the pool-rooms and the secret dens of iniquity, where the unwary are fleeced in ordinary times, to the homes of respectability where the luxuries of life are regarded as prime necessities, to the hovel of the lowest, most brutal Milesian in the suburbs, whose family of a dozen, more or less, have in the past escaped the last pangs of starvation through the sale of the joint products of the town pump and his one cow now hypothecated on the success of his party.

POLITICAL TRIMMERS IN TRIBULATION.

The comparatively small number of Departmental Clerks and other Government employees, who, in the days of assured Republican supremacy, were the most blatant and intolerant partisans, shaming all fair-minded men of their own party by their bigotry and their mean persecutions of political opponents, but who have been silent as clams since last winter awaiting developments, moved by their patriotic impulses, made indecent haste to disavow all allegiance to the Republican party on that fatal night. They outrivalled the life-long Democrat in their professions of abhorrence for the misrule and corruptions of the Republican party; and in their expressions of unspeakable admiration for "Tilden and Reform," they excited the contempt and detestation of every honorable man by the brazen display of the characteristics that have and will render the name and memory of Benedict Arnold infamous to the end of time. They now find themselves fallen between the two stools they sought to occupy.

The sinuous course of one of our evening papers within the past four weeks, and its gyrations, have been the subject of much merriment among Democrats, and of outspoken disgust with Republicans who can but contrast its present efforts to stand well with the incoming administration, with the ridicule and hostile criticisms which in times past have signalized its treatment of the rebel-Democratic party. To all such time-servers and trimmers the doubts and uncertainties attending a very close election like that of the 7th inst., must appear truly terrifying and destructive of self respect, not to say of comfort under such trying circumstances.

THE POPULAR CONFIDENCE IN PRESIDENT GRANT.

President Grant was never more popular than [illegible] in the [illegible] his triumph, after bagging the rebel army of [illegible] including [illegible] ablest traitors of the Confederacy,—judging from the unanimity of the loyal sentiment of the Nation, as represented here. The unquestioning and unreserved confidence expressed in his patriotism and ability when a new rebellion is threatened by the baffled Democracy, is in marked contrast to the doubts and fears inspired, by the vacillating attitude of Buchanan, as he cowered and trembled before the imperious traitors in his Cabinet, and by whom he had in other ways surrounded himself, while they plotted to defeat the inauguration of Mr. Lincoln, should he, happily, escape the assassin's knife of their co-conspirators in disloyal Baltimore, and to establish upon the ruins of the American Union by violence and blood-shed, the Southern Confederacy. No apprehensions are felt now, as then, that the candidate duly declared elected, will be prevented from taking his seat by a mob of drunken, howling Democrats on the 5th of next March. If there is a man within all our borders who is regarded as eminently safe to let alone, it is the grimly "silent man" in the White House, who has so often humiliated the Democratic leaders within the past year. The estrangements and the alienation from the Administration that have occurred through honest differences of views, no doubt, appear to have been forgotten in the excited toward the President by his wise, manly and patriotic course since the rebel-copperhead Congress assembled last December. Every resentment appears to have been forgotten in the common peril of a Democratic restoration; and if it shall finally appear that we have been temporarily overcome by the vicious, ignorant priest-ridden foreign elements of New York City and Brooklyn, aided by the White Leagues, the Ku-Klux Klans and Rifle Clubs of the South, and supplemented by the Knights of the Golden Circle and the Sons of Liberty of infamous memory in Indiana, the Republican party, representing the intelligence, the progressive spirit, the worth, enterprise and morality of the Country, will gird itself anew for the conflict four years hence, to regain control of the Nation, which, if lost, happened through the carelessness and inattention that came of many successive victories; through the business depression which is world-wide; from the profligate use of money under the direction of the most notorious gambler known to our history, in the interests of "honesty and reform," and through the influences of a state of intimidation, operative to a greater or less degree throughout the lately insurrectionary States, where a peaceably disposed majority has been reduced to a condition of abject fear and terror by the atrocities of a savage and relentless Democratic minority.

GENERAL ADMIRATION AND GOOD-WILL

THE REBUKE OF THE "CULTUS BOSTON MEN."

One of the most gratifying incidents of the late election to Republicans here, was the emphatic rebuke administered to the frigid selfishness and egotism of Charles Francis Adams. And while General B. F. Butler is not regarded as the absolutely ideal statesman demanded in these advanced days of political reform, it is felt that under the circumstances he will make a very useful member in the House, and that his triumphant election was not an indorsement of his alleged mischievous views in certain directions, but was accorded him in recognition for past services to the cause of liberty and equality. Besides all, it was felt that General Butler, while he may have often invited sharp criticism, has quite as often been misrepresented and abused in a most unjustifiable manner, without warrant in fact, and in a way repugnant to every sentiment of ordinary courtesy and fair play; and finally it was said that, to elect his Republican competitor under the circumstances, would be in the nature of an indorsement of the pretensions of a coterie of book-learned politicians in the neighborhood of Massachusetts Bay, who grope their way through life under the delusion that they represent the brain of the Republican party and hence, are clearly justified in their claim to dictate its policy and the character of its nominees.

SENATOR BLAINE.

The proposition to make Mr. Blaine President of the Senate, has awakened a lively interest here, as everything pertaining to him does. The ovations that were tendered him in the East, in the Middle States and in the West, during the campaign just closed, are but reflex indications of his great popularity here at the National Capitol, the theater of his greatest triumphs and of his well-nigh fatal encounter with the last enemy when a nation, with bated breath, watched the struggle, anxiously hoping, almost against hope, for the favorable issue that came at last to relieve a million hearts of their sad forebodings.

ONE OF THE "GAUNT AND HUNGRY."

One Colonel Furey (I believe) entertained a meeting of Democrats here the other evening, with his views upon the situation. They were only of importance as indicating the direction of the Democratic mind. He assured his pleased audience that the "Reformer" was surely elected; that he would be duly inaugurated, and then would happen a rigid application of the Jacksonian dogma, "to the victors belong the spoils." He further informed his hearers that neither rebel nor loyalist would be known in the fat distribution of offices—only Democrats. I believe this was rather disappointing, as they had supposed that the well-known sympathies of their candidate would lead him to give the preference to the "Bull-dozers" of the South, especially as he would be so largely indebted to that class of patriots and reformers for his success.

THE COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS.

Our city has looked a little desolate of late, as the Centennial tourists who filled our streets every day and until along into the night, during the last three months of the Exposition, are rapidly leaving for their homes; but those coming to stay the winter have already begun to arrive and the vacancies will all be filled before the assembling of Congress in December.—There appears everywhere to be an impression that the present is to be the most eventful — perhaps startling — session of Congress ever convened here; and President Grant's reported purpose to concentrate a strong military and naval force about Washington as a precautionary measure is cited as proof of the gravity of the situation. That threats, openly made, of resistance to Hayes' inauguration have been heard, I can swear; but then it is a Democratic habit to indulge in treasonable thoughts and to ignore the will of the majority when deemed safe. But, they have never, except in one instance, made good their threats; and their success was so [illegible] at present, I think.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD.

Our sympathies are largely with the Russians in the present threatening aspect of European affairs. The general opinion in well informed circles is that a war, [illegible] spread and terribly destructive is almost inevitable. It is reasoned that Russia will never suffer the present opportunity—furnished by the fatuity of the Turkish barbarians in Bulgaria and other outlying province—to pass without accomplishing her purposes, which have been cherished for many years and which were only deferred by the unfortunate termination of the Crimean war.

Our beautiful Indian Summer has merged itself into a dismal "North-easter," and the cold and desolation of winter are at hand. But we know and are cheered by the knowledge that Spring will follow in its turn, bringing with it a resurrection and new life to the seeming dead.

E. K. H.

LOST AT THE CENTENNIAL.

A MISCELLANEOUS COLLECTION OF POCKETBOOKS, BUSTLES, GARTERS, SCARFS, EYE-GLASSES, SWITCHES, FURS, UMBRELLAS PARASOLS, AND BABIES.

The Philadelphia Press, describing the bureau of lost articles at the Centennial, says: The assortment of pocketbooks is large and varied, comprising all known styles, from the plethoric wallet of the cattle-dealer to the minature, pearl-covered portmonnaie of a Vassar school-girl. There are pocketbooks filled with incongruous bundles of papers "of no value except to the owner," and of no cash value to any one; wallets stuffed with memoranda, without dates, names, or locations; others filled with receipts of various kinds, interspersed with fractional currency, railroad tickets, and occasionally a few small bills, and still others with nothing but a few pennies or postage stamps, and an equally large collection absolutely empty. Over $3000 in cash has been picked up in the Centennial grounds by the guards, and all but the small amounts remaining in several hundred unclaimed wallets, aggregating not over $100 at the most, and about $70 found in small rolls of bills, have been returned to the owners. A curious commentary on one difference in the characteristics of the two sexes is found in the fact that fully nine-tenths of the pocketbooks, and not less than four-fifths of the other articles, were evidently the property of ladies.

Three special cases were thoughtfully reserved for the wearing apparel so liberally scattered about the grounds by the better and fairer half of humanity, and the novice in the dry-goods business would find himself in a state of bewilderment for a week should he attempt a classification or minute description of their contents. Among the simpler and more familiar articles may be mentioned lace and linen collars, linen and paper cuffs, with gold or brass sleeve-buttons, shawls of all kinds, mantillas of various patterns, sun-bonnets, summer hats, handkerchiefs, eye-glasses, overshoes, waterproofs, travelling robes, veils, sacques of all varieties, scarfs, neckties, ribbons, switches and furs. Among a numerous assortment, which may not be mentioned, are all sorts of articles of underwear, including balmorals, garters, crinolines, bustles, and but limited space and knowledge prevents a completion of the list. Owners can recover the goods by calling at the office and proving property. The collection of fans is exceedingly fine, and will bear comparison with any display of an evening concert. If the Japanese have sold more fans than have been left on the grounds, they must have proved a strong competition to the sale of thermometers. Very few of the most expensive blood-coolers are in good condition, probably not having been thought of sufficient value to be fastened with a chain. It is noticeable, in the extensive stock of ladies wear on hand, that, with one exception, every portion of vesible and invisible feminine attire has been lost at the Centennial grounds, and the list includes every ornament not clasped by a lock which would puzzle the manufacturer to unfasten.

The misfortunes of male visitors seem to have been confined to the loss of empty wallets and umbrellas. Over 2000 umbrellas have been carried by the guards to headquarters, but with them about 1000 parasols. Many of both have been returned but enough remain to make quite an attractive display in a South-street store. Some of the sunshades are quite valuable, but the umbrellas are, without exception, so dilapidated by wear or in cheap material or construction that no man or woman not born for the gallows would dream of appropriating them. If among the millions of visitors at the Exhibition 1000 or 2000 lost umbrellas of no use to anybody if found, how many of actual value must have been forgotten by careless owners? If the guards returned packages of money and valuable jewelry to headquarters, would they not have been likely to return silk and pearl-handled umbrellas? If the guards did not pick up the good umbrellas presumed to have been mislaid, who did? These are serious questions, demanding personal and public investigation and unequivocal answers. Judging from the number of useless umbrellas delivered at the adjutant's office, and the liability of all umbrellas being lost, it must be assumed that fully 500,000 rain-shedders are now in the hands of persons who never paid for them. The thought is appalling in its immensity, and saddening in its fearful significance. Only one conclusion is possible—umbrellas are popularly ostracized from the protection of the eighth commandment. Here is a wide and most important field of labor for the reform party when they get into power. When their leaders are able to grasp and master this subject they will have had sufficient experience to begin to get ready to commence the work of government reform.

Several thousand gloves of all imaginable kinds, from the six-button to the merino mitten, are in a separate compartment, but no two are alike. The vast collection of old gloves, therefore, proves conclusively the falsity of the taste which makes it necessary for the man or woman of fashion to wear at least one glove, though he or she may prefer to do without both. A resolution to assist in a reform in this matter might not be without good results, and might not be inappropriate in this centennial year. The bony hand of toil, or the nervous, delicate fingers of the thinker may both be adorned by a kid covering, but why expose only one, and thus risk the loss of the off glove? The reformers might attack this subject after disposing of the umbrella corruptionists.

Among other lost articles are several dozen spectacles of different styles, three or four opera-glasses, any number of scrap-books, memorandum-books, diaries, novels, works of reference, Centennial catalogues, guides to the park and city, cigar-cases partially filled, camp-stools, "Aids to Memory," a few linen dusters, railroad tickets, and any quanity of satchels, lunch baskets, etc.

The amount of jewelry picked up by the guards would make the eyes of a diamond-broker twinkle, but all the most valuable articles have been returned. Among the richest articles of personal adornment and use were a number of diamond rings, brooches, etc.; emerald, spathine and opal earrings; several gold and silver watches, and a large assortment of lockets and charms. Some of the diamond rings were valued at $550, and from this amount the jewelry dwindled down to twenty-five cents.

One of the first of the lost articles brought into, are rather to the door of the adjutant's office, was a gray mare, large as life, and evidently much disgusted at being left to her own resources. The owner of the animal was, however, discovered on the same day. To this department are also brought the lost children not reclaimed at the precinct guard-houses, where they are first taken. All, thus far, have been handed over to their parents or sent under the care of guards to their homes or hotels the same day. Over 500 children have thus been returned to their parents, and, as those were only the "worst lost cases," it is estimated that several thousands have actually been missed and reclaimed soon afterwards at the stations. The age of the little folks ranged all the way from two to eight years, and, with few exceptions, they have bravely resigned themselves to await the long-delayed coming of their parents, in full faith that the promise of the kind-hearted adjutant to send them home, if not soon called for, would be fulfilled.

BANGOR MARKET.

SATURDAY, Nov. 25, 1876.

FLOUR. The market still remains about even, or without any particular change of figures, though during the past week sales have been quoted as more active, indicating that the demand is at present full up to the supply and the look seems to rather more favor an advance than a decline.

CORN is worth this week from 68 to 70 and 73 cents per bushel—the former measure and latter prices weight, 56 pounds.

MEAL. Corn meal is selling at 68 to 70 cents per bushel—50 pounds.

OATS are selling from the stores at 48 to 50 cents per bushel—30 pounds.

PLASTER is worth $1.25 per bbl.

LIME is worth from 85 to 90 cents per cask.

CEMENT is selling at $1.75 per bbl.

BRICKS. The holders of this quality of produce might reasonably complain, in the absence of sales, that the load grows somewhat heavy, the demand being of that sort to make prices somewhat nominal.

PORK is worth from $20 to $23, and $24 per bbl., according to quality and time of packing.

LARD is worth from 12 to 13 and 18 cents per pound, according to the quality and size of package—wood or tin.

The roads during the past week have been quite soft, and the travelling muddy, yet the marketing business has been quite fair, as the weather can be called exceedingly mild for the season, though not altogether clear and pleasant.

APPLES are in good supply in the market, and the range of price both for home and western production seems to be from $1.00 to $1.75 and $2.50 per bbl, according to quality.

BARLEY seems to be brought in only occasionally and sells from 50 to 65 and 70 cents, according to quality.

BEANS seem to be in a little better demand, and we should quote good yellow eyes at $1.75 to $1.90, and nice pea beans are worth in the streets from $2.00, to $2.25 per bushel.

BUTTER has been brought in in good supply for the demand, and selling to-day in the streets from 20 to 25 and the very best quality of lump at 28 cents per pound. Solid butter is not yet in any great demand, but for small lots we should quote the prices about the same as for lump, but any thing like large lots would only sell at nominal prices.

CABBAGES are selling by the quantity from $6 to $10 and $12 per hundred.

CHICKENS are plenty in the market, and good to the best lots are selling from 10 to 12½ cents per pound.

DRIED APPLES are worth in the streets from 7 to 9, and the very best quality of quartered, 10 cents per pound.

EGGS are selling in the streets to-day at 25 to 26 cents per dozen.

FRESH FISH. Fresh codfish are selling from the markets at 6 cents, and Halibut at 8 to 12 cents per pound. Fresh pickerel at 10 to 12 cents, and mackerel at 12 to 15 cents, and [illegible] cents per pound.

FRESH MEATS. Round hogs are selling from 7 to 7½ cents and Fresh Beef is worth by the side from 6 to 8 and [illegible] cents per pound. Lambs are selling from 7 to 8 cents, and Muttons from 6 to 7 cents per pound.

GEESE, that have had their necks suddenly [illegible] and put in good order for market, sell from 75 to 90 cents each.

HAY. Loose hay is selling at a range of price from $10 to $12 and $14 per ton. Pressed Hay is still selling from $15 to $16 and $16 per ton, but the market is not at all active as the western trade seems to be well supplied, and the shippers are hardly getting paid for their labor.

HONEY, in small boxes, is worth from 20 to 25 cents per pound, and in pails, or bulk, it sells from 15 to 20 cents.

OATS are selling this week from the market teams at [illegible] cents per bushel.

ONIONS are worth from $3.00 to $3.25 per bbl.

POTATOES are still in steady demand. The Jackson and Oronos are selling freely at 70 cents, and Early Rose at 75 to 80 cents per bushel.

PUMPKINS are selling from the market teams from 5 to 8, and 10 cents each.

SQUASH are plenty on the market, and are selling from 1 to 2 cents per pound.

STRAW. Loose straw has sold this week from $7 to $8, and pressed do. at the same figures, perhaps on account of the convenience in handling.

TURKEYS are selling from the market wagons at 12 to 15 cents per pound.

TURNIPS. Ruta-baga turnips are selling at $1.00 per bbl.

WOOD AND COAL. Dry hard wood is worth from $5.00 to $6.50 and $6.50 per cord, according to quality, and soft do. from $3.00 to $4.00. Coal for kitchen and furnace use is now sold and delivered at $6.50 to $7.00 per ton.

WOOL, &c. Fleece wool sells on the market, according to quality and condition—unwashed at 25 cents, and washed at 30 to 33 cents per pound. Lamb Skins are worth from 50 to 70 cents each, Veal Skins sell at 10 cents, and Hides at 4 to 5 cents per pound.

NEW HAMPSHIRE AND SOUTH CAROLINA—TWEEDLE-DUM AND TWEEDLE-DE.

We copy elsewhere to-day from the Boston Advertiser the clearest and most concise statement of the recent politico-legal proceedings in South Carolina, which we have seen in print, and asking for it a careful perusal, we wish to recall for comparison with the present attitude and doctrines of the Democratic party, the attitude and doctrines which they maintained during certain notable events which transpired in New Hampshire only a little more than one year ago. We will sketch the facts briefly.

An election had been held that resulted in no choice for Governor, thus throwing the election of that officer as well as a United States Senator, into the Legislature which was very close. The State Administration being Democratic the leaders of that party at once determined to secure the Legislature by manipulating the returns. They began with the Senate which according to the returns had 7 Republicans and 5 Democrats. In one of the Republican Districts several thousand votes were cast for Natt Head and others for Nathaniel Head. By counting them as for different persons there would have been no choice. The Constitution gave the Governor and Council no power to go behind the returns or to perform other than the ministerial duty of ascertaining by the official returns who appeared therein to be elected. To declare a vacancy would not answer the party purpose as Gen. Head was sure of re-election, so Governor Weston and associates, in spite of protests by minority members of the Council arbitrarily threw out all the votes referred to and issued the certificate to the Democratic candidate. In another District the anti-Democratic candidate was charged with ineligibility, although votes for him had been repeatedly counted at previous elections, and his votes were thrown out also and a certificate issued to the Democrat. This reversed the control of the Senate at its organization and placed two men who had not been elected in seats to make up a Democratic majority to vote for the exclusion of the contestants who had been actually chosen at the polls.

And here we wish to remind our readers that the whole Democratic press of the country vehemently sustained the Executive Canvassers in assuming judicial functions directly contrary to law, and in thus controlling the organization of one branch of the Legislature by throwing out votes and placing men not elected in seats where they could vote to exclude the rightful claimants. The contrast with the South Carolina case could not be more clearly defined. In the latter State a Board explicitly empowered by law to decide cases under protest or contest—a power with which the New Hampshire Board was not clothed—have issued certificates to all members of the Legislature appearing by the returns to be elected except in two counties where the returns were vitiated by fraud, and in these cases, instead of following the New Hampshire Democratic example by seating the candidates of their own party the Board declined to issue certificates to either side and thus left the Legislature untrammeled to decide on the claims of the contestants.

But there was another stage in the New Hampshire proceedings. The House of Representatives refused to recognize the Senate thus unlawfully organized and with a portion of the Senate resorted to the Constitutional privilege of formally calling for the opinion of the Supreme Court of the State as to the legality of the certificates issued for the two Senatorial Districts mentioned. The Court was Democratic and at that particular juncture entertained scruples about interference with the Executive which do not seem to be shared now by their colleagues in South Carolina, nor by the party which applauded to the echo when they declined even to [illegible] the acts of a coordinate branch of the Government. As a reminder to our readers of the doctrine which was endorsed by the whole Democratic press one year ago we quote some pointed extracts from the remarkable document sent to the Legislature by the Supreme Court of New Hampshire:

"We have in reply to the resolutions from the House of Representatives declined to express an opinion upon a past and accomplished act of the Executive Department of the Government performed in the discharge of a duty expressly required by the Constitution, on the ground that such opinion, if given, could have no greater weight or authority than an [illegible] of one branch of the Government upon another coordinate branch and such an act on the part of the Justices of this Court would not be consistent with the grave duties imposed on them by the Constitution.

* * * * *

There is no principle more fundamental, more thoroughly interwoven with the whole fabric of our republican institutions and form of government * * than that the three branches of the Government, the Legislative the Executive and the Judicial, are coordinate and independent. Neither can interfere with the duties or functions of the other without striking a blow at the foundation upon which rests all the security as well for private rights as the public welfare.

* * * * *

We cannot hesitate to declare our opinion that when the Governor and Council acted in the premises that solemn act of the Executive Department of this Government necessarily involved a construction of the clause of the Constitution prescribing their duties, AND THAT SUCH ACTION CANNOT BE REGARDED AS THE SUBJECT OF REVIEW BY EITHER OF THE OTHER DEPARTMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT, except in the mode distinctly provided in the Constitution, namely, by the Senate, who by Article 35 are made final judges of the election returns and qualifications of their own members. The Governor and Council must act in the matter the same as the Legislature or Court acts in matters coming within the range of their several Constitutional duties upon their own responsibility."

Upon the merits of the above evasions we expressed our opinion at the time, and we cite from the document now as a Democratic and not a Republican authority. In a perfectly clear case of transgression of the law, when called upon by the Representatives of the people in the most imperative manner provided under the Constitution the New Hampshire Court were so conservative of the independence of the co-ordinate branches of the Government that they declined to give any construction to a Constitutional provision, because the Executive had already construed it to suit a political exigency. They were sustained by the Democratic party and their doctrine declared to be Democratic doctrine.

Now look at South Carolina, where a Democratic Court at the instigation of Democratic intriguers, have boldly assumed to not only interfere with an Executive Board in the discharge of a duty imposed by law, but to take their work out of their hands, dictate the method and manner of counting the votes, compel the results of the canvass to be submitted from stage to stage to the inspection of the Court, to order certificates issued to a Democratic Legislature on the face of the returns and regardless of errors and frauds, to order a canvass of the Electoral votes by another method intended to secure one or more Electors for Tilden, and finally to order the fine and incarceration of the State Canvassers for having performed their duty according to the laws creating and governing their official action.

And the men and organs that applauded the New Hampshire Judges are now straining their throats with boisterous eulogy of their new Moses in South Carolina! The American People are looking on!

THE CONFLICT IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

[From the Boston Advertiser.]

In considering the character and effect of the late action of the South Carolina Board of Canvassers, it will be profitable to review with some care the course of events since the interference of the courts with the action of the Board was invited by the Democrats, in order that we may understand definitely the conditions of the case as it now stands. The following are the pertinent circumstances in the order of their occurrence.

When the Board met on Monday, the 13th instant General James Connor presented on behalf of the Democratic candidates, an address, claiming that all the acts of the General Assembly authorizing the Board to hear and determine cases under protest and contest are in violation of the constitution of the State, and demanding in behalf of said candidates that the Board shall only act ministerially in ascertaining from the returns and statements forwarded by the Boards of County Canvassers the persons who have received the greatest number of votes, and declare the same and certify to it to the Secretary of State. The Board having expressed a desire to hear argument, L. F. Youmans, appearing for the Democratic candidates, maintained "that the Board had no power under the constitution, to alter the result of the County Canvassers, no power to change the returns and could merely consolidate and announce the result."—The Board to decided to hear argument on the other side the next day, and also resolved to begin canvassing the returns on the 16th, and continue until the last day of their session if necessary.

But on the next day the 14th the Democrats served notice on the Board that they had applied to the Supreme Court for writ of prohibition and mandamus. The Board adjourned and proceeded to the Court.—The prayer of the petitioners was "that writs of prohibition and mandamus be granted, restraining the Board of Canvassers from exercising judicial functions in the election of Electors, members of the Legislature, members of Congress and Solicitors, and confining them to ministerial functions only, and restraining Dunn, Cardoza, and Haynes, candidates for Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State, and nominees for re-election to these offices, from sitting as judges of their own election." The Court made a rule that the Board should appear on Thursday the 16th to show cause why the application should not be granted.

On the 15th the Board met, and the counsel for the Democrats submitted again the paper submitted on the 13th and upon which the Board had heard argument from them, but the Board adopted a resolution that they would not act upon any proposition until the question of its powers and duties was decided by the Supreme Court.

On the 16th the Court heard arguments from the counsel of the Canvassers in opposition to the petition that they should be confined to the simple ministerial duty of collating figures and declaring the result of the count as returned by the Boards of County Canvassers. Pending the decision of the main question, the Canvassers asked for an order of Court permitting them to proceed with the count to save time. The Court granted them permission, but made it obligatory that they should proceed only in a ministerial capacity, when the request was withdrawn. On Friday, the 17th the Supreme Court made the following auxiliary order:

> It is ordered that the Board of State Canvassers do forthwith proceed to aggregate the statements furnished to them by the Boards of County Canvassers and ascertain the persons who have received the greatest number of votes for the offices for which they were candidates respectively at the general election held in the State on the [illegible] and certify their action in the premises under this order the Court. This order to apply to all officers voted for at said general election except the office of Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, which are not in question by the pleadings.
> F. J. MOSES, Chief Justice.
> I dissent from so much of this order as requires that the Board of State Canvassers certify their action in the premises to this Court.
> J. J. WRIGHT, Associate Justice.

The court asked the counsel for the Board if he had any suggestion to make and he said that as the order was only auxiliary or intermediate, he would make no suggestions at that time. The Board of Canvassers met and voted to proceed to make up the statement of votes cast, and representatives of both political parties were invited to be present as witnesses. The work was not finished that day. A large number of protests were filed by both parties, affecting the validity of the returns in the hands of the Board. The order of the court, it will be observed, did not prohibit any member of the Board from acting, and did not decide the constitutional question of the right of the Board to act judicially as well as ministerially in conformity with the statutes.

The Board of Canvassers completed the work of tabulating the returns of the Boards of County Canvassers on the electoral ticket on Saturday the 18th. The result showed that those on the Republican ticket had been elected by majorities ranging from 230 to 1100. At this point the Democrats changed their tactics and their counsel immediately filed the following exception:

> We except to the aggregation of the results and the announcement of them on the ground that the canvass and the comparison of the managers' returns with the county canvassers' statement show irregularities, errors and omission, which vitiate the result and prevent the aggregation of the county canvassers statement from being regarded as the true aggregation of the votes cast at the election.
> JAMES CONNOR, Counsel.

THE DEMOCRATS CHANGE THEIR TACTICS, AND ENLARGE THEIR DEMANDS.

The Board, however, had strictly complied with the order of the court, which was in principle and in terms, except as to its finality, precisely what the Democrats had contended for both before the court and before the Board. The same day, the court having expressed a desire to hear further argument on certain provisions of law regarding the duties of the Board, General Connor appeared and argued that the Board ought to go behind the returns to the extent of correcting manifest clerical errors, and General Elliot for the Republicans argued that, as the Board was required to certify the correctness of the vote, they could not do so without taking whatever steps were necessary to ascertain its correctness. It is evident, however, from the fact of the court requiring further argument, that its decision of the main question as to the Board's jurisdiction was not yet made. The Board was engaged Monday, the 20th canvassing the returns for members of Congress and other officers. In the Supreme Court, the Democratic counsel asked for an order requiring the Board, in reporting their action under the order of the 17th instant, to include at the same time all errors, irregularities and discrepancies between the vote as returned by the County Canvassers and reported by the precinct managers' which they might have discovered. The court declined to issue the order, on the ground that the request was premature. It would be time enough for counsel to object to the return when it was in the hands of the court and it was known what the Board had done. Judge Willard said that in his opinion the counsel had mistaken the proper course, and should have applied for a writ of certiorari. He did not think the order of the 17th was of much importance, and signed it only on the ground that the court was empowered to issue a certiorari, and such a preliminary order might give information to the court of the status of the parties.

Upon the meeting of the Supreme Court on Tuesday, the United States District Attorney moved to rescind the order of the 17th, requiring the board to report to the court, on the ground that it was unnecessary for the court to know who was likely to be elected before ruling on the question of law. Judge Wright said that the relators asked the court to issue a mandamus requiring the board to do certain work which was purely ministerial, to wit the aggregation of the returns as reported by the county canvassers. The respondents replied that they were willing to do all the work. Afterwards the court granted an order directing the board to do just what the relators asked and the respondents consented. But the court made an addition to the order requiring the board to report to the court. From that he dissented, because he did not consider it essential that the court should know whether A or B had been elected by these returns before making its decision on the powers of the board. The question before the court was purely a legal one. Without formally granting or denying the district attorney's motion, Chief Justice Moses with the assent of Judge Willard called upon counsel to produce the report of the board. It was immediately brought in and submitted to the court. It was simply an aggregation of the county returns, by which the Republican electors, all but two of the Republican State officers, and a Republican majority in the Senate, appear to be elected, and the Democratic Governor and Lieutenant Governor, two Democrats of the five Congressmen, and a Democratic majority of four in the House.

The report also stated that there are numerous irregularities and discrepancies between the returns of the County Commissioners and managers of election precincts, and that the board is in possession of allegations, affidavits and proofs showing that the election in several of the precincts of Edgefield, Barnwell and Laurens counties were void by reason of frauds, intimidation and violence. It closed by saying that the board makes the report in compliance with the order of the court, but respectfully protests against the power of the court to require any report from it.

The counsel for the Democrats asked time to consider the report, and in half an hour appeared to ask the court to issue two orders. The first required the board to certify forthwith to the election of members of the Legislature and Congressmen, and commanding the Secretary of State to issue their certificates of election. This would give the Democrats the Legislature on joint ballot and so the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, a United States Senator, and perhaps the other State officers. The second order restrained the board from filing certificates of any of the Presidential electors or State or county officers, and directed them in regard to these officers to compare the county returns with those of the precinct managers, and report the result to the court. That is to say, the Democratic counsel asked the court to forbid the board to revise and correct the returns in all cases where the Democrats had secured what they wanted, and to require them to do so in all cases where the Democrats might profit by it! This was too much even for Justices Moses and Willard. The court refused to grant the orders as asked for, but gave the Democratic counsel permission to amend. The rest of the session was occupied by ex-United States Attorney-General Akerman, who was asked by the court to submit his views on the main question concerning the legal and constitutional power of the board of canvassers.

THE PROCEEDINGS WEDNESDAY.

The Court met on Wednesday, and Chief Justice Moses said that, in view of the importance of a speedy determination of the question as to the members of the Legislature who had a prima facie right to certificates of election (the Legislature meeting next week), the Court would issue a peremptory mandamus to the Board of Canvassers to certify to the Secretary of State the election of those who, by the returns presented the day before, appeared to have a majority of the votes cast, and order the Secretary of State to notify them of their election. Another reason given for this order was, that the Legislature itself could take cognizances of contests and rectify any errors that might be discovered. The main question concerning the duties of the Board of Canvassers the Court still held under consideration. The Democratic counsel then asked for an order similar to the second of the orders asked for the day before, except that it applied only to Presidential Electors. A question arising as to the regularity of the proceeding, the Court suggested that they had better begin anew if they desired another mandamus. Counsel adopted the suggestion, and, this being a new proceeding, counsel on the other side had a right to show cause why it should not be granted, and the Court gave them until Friday, until which time the Court adjourned.

Meantime the Board of Canvassers, sitting in another room of the Capitol, had taken important action which seems not to have become generally known until late in the day. About one o'clock the Board adjourned sine die. Before doing this they had voted four to one in one case, and three to two in the other, to throw out the returns from Edgefield and Laurens counties as void on account of frauds and irregularities, and then certified to the election of the Republican Electors, the several candidates for Congress and all the State officers, and the members of both houses of the Legislature who were reported the day before to have received a majority of the votes, except those from the two counties the returns from which were thrown out, which gave the Legislature to the Republicans. The Secretary of State had issued the certificates of election, and before the action was known these were on the way to the persons entitled to them by special messengers.

Whether the Board adjourned before the Court had issued the mandamus is not definitely stated, but certainly it had not been served. The members of the Board assert that they adjourned because the limitation fixed by law for the length of their session had arrived. The law provides, as they claim, but about this there is a dispute, that the session shall close in ten days, not counting Sunday, from the ~~date of organization, and as the Board~~ organized on Friday the 10th the limit of its legal session expired on Wednesday the 22d. It is said, further, that they were influenced by the consideration that, if they did not complete their work within the limited time, they feared the Democrats might procure an injunction restraining them from issuing any certificates, on the ground that the Board had no legal existence. At all events, their action was a coup d' etat which put a new face on all existing conditions.

The first question that arises is, of course, whether their action is a contempt of Court. There seem to be two opinions on this question, as might be expected. On the one hand, it is argued that it is a contempt of Court, because the question whether the statute authorizing the Board to perform judicial functions, which they did exercise by throwing out the returns from Edgefield and Laurens, was yet before the court unadjudicated. On the other hand, it is said that the action was not in contempt, because the Court had not issued even a tempory restaining order. The only order of Court served upon them required them to aggregate the returns and certify their action in the premises to the Court which they had done in strict obedience to the mandate. Having thus obeyed the order of the Court, they proceeded to the performance of their duty under the law, while they were competent to act as a Board, and adjourned at the limit of time fixed by the law for the continuance of their organization. Which of these two opinions is the more reasonable or valid we do not now undertake to determine, or even to argue.

We heartily commend one decision of the Louisiana Returning Board, which will undoubtedly subject them to torrents of abuse. The demand of any army of newspaper scribblers to be admitted to all the sessions as a matter of right was one of those pieces of impertinence which we are glad to find rebuked. The impossibility of conducting the canvass of votes in a ten-acre lot and the impropriety of admitting a great crowd to the sessions, are obvious, and there are hundreds whose candidacies or other interests would give them a prior claim to that of sensational writers for newspapers. The Board have already admitted five prominent members of each of the political parties who have stenographers to note all the proceedings, and the newspaper specials have no claim whatever to privileges not accorded the public at large. It has become a habit with newspaper reporters to push themselves into any place public or private where they can find a door or window open, and they have no hesitation in making use of courtesy for the most indecent abuse of those who show them civilities. We hope to see the time when public men will have enough self-respect to escort interviewers promptly out of doors by the ear, and when public bodies of all kinds will refuse to make the slightest concession to bohemian brigandage.

The Boston Globe says "It is an absurd law which gives to candidates for election jurisdiction over the counting of the votes on which their election depends" and the New York World copies it and amplifies upon the enormities thus permitted by "the Radicals," which it says "no decent community would tolerate." Yet there is probably some one connected with the World who knows enough to know that officials who may be renominated are charged with canvassing the returns of their own election in nearly every State of the Union, and a despatch in another column announces the counting of the votes just completed in New York State by a Board of Canvassers, all Democrats, and one of them, Comptroller Lucius Robinson, the successful candidate for Governor. But there is a large newspaper supply of clap trap just now.

The official count in the Seventh Massachusetts District proves to be as follows, Benjamin F. Butler, 12,100, John K. Tarbox, 9379, E. Rockwood Hoar, 1955. Little Tarbox didn't make a bonfire this year.

FROM PORTLAND.

Schooner Run Into.

PORTLAND, Nov. 25. Schooner Willie Smith of Portland, was run into off Cape Elizabeth this morning by a large vessel and had bulwarks stove, rail and anchor broken.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

Terrible Fate of a Drunkard.

BIDDEFORD, Nov. 25. Frederick Veazie, a butcher well known in Brighton and Biddeford, while intoxicated last night, wandered to the Eastern Railroad track near Saco Station, and this morning was found lying dead inside the rails with both legs and one arm cut off. At least four trains passed over his body. He had a bottle in his pocket when last seen and was very drunk.

THE TAMMANY FRAUDS.

A Full Expose Coming.

WOODWARD TO TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE.

Startling Revelations Anticipated.

The Confidential Agent of the Tammany Ring to make a Clean Breast of it.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. The Tribune has the following: "It was intimated at the time of the arrest of Elbert A. Woodward that his coming back to this country, his apprehension at Chicago, his return to this city, and confinement in the Tombs were simply preliminary to a full confession on his part of the entire transactions of the Ring and all its adherents, great and small. All the circumstances of the arrest, the ease with which it was effected, the willingness with which Woodward came to this city, and the quiet satisfaction with which he has endured his confinement to prison confirmed the suspicion that his return was prearranged.

Revelations that will Involve Parties Hitherto Unsuspected.

It is beyond any doubt that Mr. Woodward has resolved, as the only safe course open to him, to reveal all he knows relative to the frauds committed against the County and State, not only in the matter of the false vouchers for building the Court house, but in the fraudulent election of scores of State, Legislative, County and city officers, many of whom retain the positions thus corruptly gained; and many others of whom have since been returned to office. His revelations will involve many Republican as well as Democratic officials, and the particulars of the dividends of the fund raised in the Court House frauds will involve scores of persons who have hitherto been unsuspected.

The Checks Dividing the Plunder all in Woodward's Possession.

"Woodward, as the manager of the pool, was intrusted with the custody of all the checks which passed between all the conspirators, and these he has carefully preserved. During his six years of voluntary banishment in other lands these checks, the most valuable property which he probably ever had in his hands, remained in this city, and it is a proof of the gross ignorance or the strong friendship existing in some persons that the man or woman to whom they were intrusted returned them to him in the Tombs undisturbed, with the accumulated dust of five years upon them. Not a single one was missing, and the oaths of more than one witness in past trials that no such checks had ever existed will fall to the ground when Woodward takes the stand.

A Full Exposure Coming.

It is impossible to name any of the many persons who will be involved in ruin if Woodward and Tweed join hands in establishing finally the truth of the great conspiracy of Tammany against not merely the county, but the whole Commonwealth of New York. It is possible at present to positively assert only what many must have long since suspected as inevitable, that the full exposure is soon coming."

Woodward's counsel was closeted with Wm. M. Tweed yesterday.

WASHINGTON.

River and Harbor Improvements.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. The report of Gen. Humphrey, Chief of Engineers, shows that of $5,000,000 appropriated by Congress for river and harbor improvements, $2,000,000 only were allotted for various works, under the instructions of the Secretary of War. Only $223,000 were set apart for removing obstructions in East River and Hell Gate, or $27,000 less than the amount appropriated for that purpose. The allotment for Boston harbor was $20,000.

MARINE DISASTER.

Vessel Abandoned—Rescue of the Crew.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25. Steamship America, from Savannah, which arrived last night, brought the crew of the brig Mary C. Roswell, from Satilla river, with lumber, for Richmond, Maine. The crew of the brig numbering seven were picked up Nov. 23d, 15 miles north off Body Island. Capt. Kennison states that on the 21st his vessel was abandoned in lat. 36, 15, long. 74.47 full of water and on beam ends, in consequence of the storm of Sunday night, 19th inst., before which time she was leaking badly. The crew had been three or four days at the pumps. When rescued the crew had been in an open boat 40 hours and endured great suffering.

The Court Orders Fine and Imprisonment of the Board of Canvassers.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 25. The Supreme Court has just entered judgment of $1500 fine each and commitment of all members of the Board of Canvassers to jail until released by order of the Court. The Court is now proceeding with the case against U. S. District Attorney Corbin, counsel for the Board, for contempt. There is considerable suppressed excitement.

Mr. Corbin's Case Postponed.

U. S. District Attorney Corbin, Counsel for the Board of Canvassers, disclaimed any intention of contempt, and asked until Monday to satisfy the Court, which was granted,

The Court is now occupied with argument on the Electoral vote.

Afternoon—The Court and the Electors.

The Supreme Court this afternoon took the order under advisement requiring the Board of Canvassers to make a comparison of the returns of the County Canvassers and the returns of the precinct managers in the case of the Presidential Electors and will render decision Monday.

The Court Declined

to issue an order giving certificates to members of the Legislature from Edgefield and Laurens counties refused by the Board, but stated that such members could obtain a copy of the record from the Clerk of the Court which would be equivalent to a certificate.

The Board of Canvassers in Jail.

The five members of the Board of Canvassers who were constructively arrested this forenoon, reported at the jail this evening where they are now confined. Their names are F. L. Cardozo, Treasurer; T. C. Dunn, Comptroller; Gen. Wm. Stone, Attorney-General; H. E. Hayne, Secretary of State, and H. W. Purvis, ex-Adjutant and Inspector-General.

Evening—Measures for Release.

It is announced that efforts will be made to have Judge Bond of the U. S. Court release the Board of Canvassers on a writ of habeas corpus. They are, however, still in jail and no action of the character mentioned has yet been taken.

Washington Opinion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. The Herald's Washington special says one of the legal positions to be taken by the Government is that the South Carolina Board of Canvassers are quasi Federal officials in the discharge of their duties so far as Presidential Electors are concerned.

The Board Unyielding.

The Herald's Columbia special says Secretary of State Hayne declares the Board have disobeyed no order of the Court. The only order received was obeyed, and when the second order was served the Board had been functus officio eleven hours. The Board maintain that the law is on their side and they were determined not to recede from their position.

Gov. Chamberlain to be Sustained.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. The President has issued orders through Secretary Cameron to Gen. Ruger and Col. Black, at Columbia, that D. H. Chamberlain is now Governor and will remain so until a successor shall be legally inaugurated, and that as aid has been legally called for, they are to dispose troops in such a manner as to sustain the Governor in his authority against domestic violence until otherwise ordered.

LOUISIANA.

The Board in Session.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25. The Returning Board met at 11.30. The two visiting committees being present, Gov. Wells said that the reading of protests or motions must be dispensed with as all evidence must be in before the close of the coming week or the Board would not be able to get through its work. In response to Col. Zacharie, he said but one Democratic name had been presented to fill the vacancy on the Board, that of Kennedy, and the Board would make an appointment if it could agree.

Some discussion ensued about returns from Morehouse, said to be at the express office and they were sent for. Gov. Wells announced that time would be given to get in the testimony from W. Baton Rouge, and the Board then went into Executive Session.

The Board called for returns and announced the vote from the consolidated statements as follows:

	Hayes.	Tilden.
Desoto,	898	1305
Ouachita,	793	1869
Lincoln,	331	1064
East Feliciana,	—	1737
West "	778	1249
Richland,	277	970
Caddo,	2687	1654
Sabine,	23	90

The votes of these parishes were not canvassed, there being contests fixed for a hearing next week.

An Exciting Episode.

Democratic counsel were present when returns were opened, and some excitement was caused by finding in a packet from De Soto entered as received on the 18th a protest by a Supervisor dated Nov. 25th and sworn to in this city. When the Secretary was inquired of about this he said he received two packages, and one of the Democratic counsel charged that he detected him in the act of making another entry in his book of two packages received. The affair created quite a sensation among the members of the committees present.

FLORIDA.

The Facts of the Situation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. W. E. Chandler telegraphs from Tallahassee: "a brief summary of the situation is this: The Democrats took a sudden alarm lest Gov. Stearns should undertake hastily to ascertain the result of the Presidential vote and give certificates to electors which he had never thought of doing; and they asked permission to submit to him an argument on the subject. Instead of doing so, they invented the extraordinary idea of controlling the canvass of the Presidential vote by a bill in equity in a petty county court. They have also been desirous of obtaining already received prior to the arrival of the returns from several strong Democratic counties. Hence their efforts to induce the Canvassing Board to proceed before all, or substantially all, the returns were in. Whatever may be the action of Judge White, there is not and has never been the probability that the Governor will undertake to canvass the returns; and the Canvassing Board will proceed as soon as it gets ready, probably on Monday, the returns having nearly all arrived.

Information of the exact Condition of the Official Returns

The Canvassers Called Together.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 26. The Secretary of State has formally notified the Board of Canvassers to meet at 12 o'clock Monday to canvass the votes. The Judge has not yet decided the injunction and mandamus cases, and this action of the Board seems to obviate the necessity for any decision.

The Board will [illegible] Committees to its sessions. The official returns are now all in, but the result will hardly be reached before December 6th.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.

Tilden has 32,719 Majority.

The majority for Lucius Robinson, Democrat, for Governor is 30,460.

The highest vote cast for Peter Cooper Electors was 1,987 and for Green C. Smith 2,359. Tilden's majority over all was 28,719.

OREGON.

The Elector Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25. A despatch from Portland, Oregon, denies that any application has been made for an injunction restraining the issue of a certificate of election to Watts, Elector-at-large. The Democrats state positively that such action will be taken. The Republicans are confident the certificate cannot be legally withheld.

The Governor will issue the Certificate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26. A press despatch from Portland, Oregon, says Gov. Grover is reported to have said he proposes to issue a certificate of election to Watts unless restrained by the courts. It is generally believed he will not refuse except on an injunction.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, &C.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of Indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, &C.

These Pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver. These remedies are a certain cure for Consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, create a healthy bile, and remove all diseases of the liver, often a cause of Consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood; and thus creates a healthy circulation of healthy blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in.

DEMOCRATIC ROOSTER ATTENDED TO.

No Democratic rooster can crow over the Republican women of Winterport. This is the way three of the birds were polished off the day after election. The patriotic woman was out on early morning gathering chips, when she was told of Tilden's election, at the same moment three roosters on a fence set up an exhuberant crow in unison. Seizing a stick she knocked one over, dead, captured the other two after a smart chase, wrung their necks and sent them all to market, declaring she wouldn't eat a mouthful of the insulting things.

A HIGH-TONED REFORMER.

The modern "reformer" is not above petty spite. A prominent Democrat of Winterport overflowing with the "spirit of the occasion" the day after election, went home and indulged in exulting chaff with his "domestic," who is both an American and Republican. Getting more than he bargained for in retort, he "flared up," got mad, and discharged her. She remarked on leaving that though she was the first Republican discharged from service by the Democrats, she supposed she wouldn't be the last, if they got into power.

A CANNON-WHEEL FISHED FROM THE RIVER.

A party of smelt fishers while dragging for thin buoy rocks in the river opposite the Sanford wharf in Winterport one day last week, fished up a live oak wheel about three feet in diameter. It was quite sound, though much worn by the action of the water, and covered with a shelly deposit. The iron bolts and the tire were entirely decayed with the exception of a small piece about six inches long, which was very soft and easily broken. It is evidently a cannon wheel and was, probably, a portion of the munitions of war on board the American fleet which was chased up the river by the British men-of-war, and thrown overboard during the pursuit. Other articles were encountered by the drag hooks, but were too heavy to be raised.

THE BETTER TIMES.

We were much impressed by a recent remark, attributed to Governor Morgan, that under certain circumstances, which were mentioned, but which it is not necessary to recall, he did not see why the American people could not enjoy a period of prosperity lasting ten or twelve years. That which impressed us was the recognition, by an experienced business head, of the periodicity of prosperity in this country. We go headlong into business from a period of depression, run a certain round, and then down we go again, to rise and fall indefinitely in the same way. That has been the history of American business as far back as we can remember. The question never seems to rise whether this periodicity is necessary, or can be avoided; but every time we work up to a crash,—to a great and wide-spread financial disaster,—from which we slowly recover, again to repeat the old mistakes, and receive the accustomed punishment.

Is this lamentable periodicity necessary? We cannot believe that it is. When we suffer as a community, it is because, as a community, we have done wrong. When legitimate business is properly done, and not improperly overdone; when the credits are not illegitimately extended, and speculation is not indulged in; when public and corporate trusts are managed without corruption; when true economy is practiced in public and private life, a great financial calamity, or crash, is simply impossible. What Governor Morgan, or any other wise and observing man, foresees as one of the consequences of the revival of business, is a development of the spirit of speculation, a growth of fictitious values, an over-production of manufactures, a multiplication of middle-men, a wide extension of credit, a feverish thirst for large profits, a stimulation of extravagant habits and increasing love of luxury. There is but one natural and inevitable end to all these, and that is disaster. It comes just as naturally as death follows a competent poison. There is no mystery about it whatever; and the strange thing is, that a nation of men are so much like a nation of children that it will not learn.

The better times for which we have waited so long that we had almost become hopeless, seem to have dawned at last. Business is reviving. The spindles begin to whirl again, the merchant has his customers; once more that which is produced finds a ready market: and once more there is labor for the workman, and bread and clothing and shelter for the labor. After the terrible lesson we have received, it is a good time to talk about the future. Are we to go on again in the old way, and fill up, within a limited period of years, the old measure of foolishness, and tumble again into the old consequences?

It is not necessary that we should do so. We have from sheer necessity, begun to be economical. Let us continue so. Let us build smaller houses; let us furnish them more modestly; let us live less luxuriously; let us tune all our personal and social life to a slower key. We have bravely begun reform in public and corporate affairs. Let us continue this, and vigilantly see to it that our trusts are placed in competent and honest hands. We are committed to a reform in the civil service,—a reform which will extinguish the trade of politics that has done so much to debauch and impoverish the country. Let us see to it that this reform is thoroughly effected. Our cobble-houses have tumbled about our ears; let us not rebuild them. Our speculations lie in ruin, with the lives and fortunes they have absorbed. Our fictitious values have been extinguished; let us not try to relight the glamour that made them. Our long credits and our depreciated currency have wrought incalculable evils; let us not continue them. Let us cease to deal in paper lies, and pay in gold our honest debts. Above all let us be content with modest gains, cease trying to win wealth in a day, and get something out of life besides everlasting work and worry. Fully one-half of our wants are artificial, and these terrible struggles for money are mainly for the supply of wants that we have created.—Dr. J. G. Holland; Scribner for December.

DINING COMFORTABLY.

Many people are aware, even without any scientific knowledge, that the mind has a most direct influence on the stomach, that the stomach reacts upon the mind, and that the two, linked mysteriously together, act and react upon each other with unfailing certainty. Digestion thus obviously to a great extent will depend on the state of mind in which we sit down to a meal. It is not sufficient always merely to set the tired-out diner down to a good dinner. If he had been hard at work, battling during the day with the perplexities and difficulties inseparable from daily life, in whatever calling, his meal, if it is to do him all the good it should, must be a cheerful one; and it is as much a part of a loving wife's duty to meet him with smiles and pleasant words as it is to give him his soup hot and his meat cooked to a turn. Nay, although disappointment in the quality of the viands—a tough steak, a tepid sole—will check much more than is thought the process of digestion, even when spirits are good and appetite keen, it will not be so prejudicial to the healthful assimilation of food as will be the discussion of domestic cares or the announcement of bad news. Whatever trials and sorrows have to be faced, dinner time and the time immediately succeeding it is not the time to grapple with them or dwell upon the means by which they are to be surmounted. Again, highly animated discussions, lapsing often into virulent arguments, are distinctly prejudicial at meal time; for temper, if ruffled, will retard digestion as fatally as damped spirits will. In a word, there is no byway to health more directly useful and generally worth sticking to than that by which we can have our meals in peace and comfort, if not in absolute gayety.—Tinsley's Magazine.

THE APPLE CROP.—The Detroit Free Press of the 5th says:—"The apple crop is all bought, and nearly all shipped, except the small amounts held by the farmers for higher prices. Apples have been sold very low in comparison with former years. The apple crop was a good one in this State, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Missouri, and the markets West are flooded. The Market opened in Michigan at 75c a $1 per barrel for winter fruit. The prices once fell to 40c. per barrel. The prices are now 75c. to $1 per barrel. A very large amount of apples are held in Chicago for want of buyers. Thus far apple buyers have done business at a loss this season, and the prospect, with a flooded market, is bad for dealers."

Admirers of a former mathematical professor in Dartmouth cite, as a proof of his wonderful gift of calculation, the fact that, when he went to Europe, he estimated his expenses so accurately that he took just enough money to pay all his bills, and returned with one cent left.

BAY WINDOWS.—A man has recovered $10,000 in Nantucket, Mass., for injuries received by coming in contact with a bay window projecting over the sidewalk. The owner of the house where the accident occurred pays $5000 of the amount.

There's nothing like nipping back the main leader of geraniums, fuchsias, heliotropes, dahlias, chrysanthemums, etc., to get a liberal show of flowers. This nipping should be done pretty early in the season.

Do not live in hope with your arms folded. Fortune smiles on those who roll up their sleeves and put their shoulder to the wheel.

Get iron filings and chips and work into the soil around all kinds of flowering plants if you want too see them flower profusely.

Notice to Creditors in Bankruptcy.

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Maine. In the matter of Jonh W. Palmer and Benjamin Johnson, individually and as members of the firm of Palmer and Johnson, of Bangor in said District, Bankrupts. In Bankruptcy.

District of Maine, ss. A meeting of the individual and copartnership creditors of said bankrupts, will be held in the Bankrupt Court Room, before Register Hamlin, at Bangor, on the fourth day of December, A. D. 1876, at 3 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of inquiring whether a resolution accepting a composition proposed by said bankrupts to the individual and co-partnership creditors, respectively, in satisfaction of the debts owed by said bankrupts to each of their said creditors, has been passed in the manner directed by Sec. 17 of the Bankruptcy Amendment Act, approved June 22, 1874, and the Revised Statutes of the United States, title LXI, Bankruptcy, and has been confirmed by the signatures required by said Sections. And also, whether it is for the best interests of all concerned, that the said resolution (accepting the composition proposed) should be recorded, and that the said statements showing the whole of the assets and debts of said bankrupts, both as individuals and as copartners, should be filed.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medical Properties Are ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, Vegetine acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervousness and General Prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the Vegetine. It purifies the blood, cleanses all of the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by Vegetine have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, Vegetine is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable Blood Purifier yet placed before the public.

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

DEAR SIR—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merit of VEGETINE. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police Officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetine, and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful; and for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which Vegetine can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about Vegetine.

MARK THESE FACTS!

The Testimony of the Whole World.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

[illegible]

"I had no appetite; Holloway's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Holloway has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave one of your Pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Holloway's Ointment cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Ointment behind the ears, and the noise has left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is 25 cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Pills by return mail, for Chills and Fever."

I have over 200 such testimonials as these, but want of space compels me to conclude.

For Cutaneous Disorders.

And all eruptions of the skin, this Ointment is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

Invariably cure the following diseases

Disorder of the Kidneys.

In all diseases affecting these organs, whether they secrete too much or too little water; or whether they be afflicted with stone or gravel, or with aches and pains settled in the loins over the regions of the kidneys, these Pills should be taken according to the printed directions, and the Ointment should be well rubbed into the small of the back at bed time. This treatment will give almost immediate relief when all other means have failed.

For Stomachs out of Order.

No medicine will so effectually improve the tone of the stomach as these Pills, they remove all acidity occasioned either by intemperance or improper diet. They reach the liver and reduce it to a healthy action; they are wonderfully efficacious in case of spasm—in fact they never fail in curing all disorders of the liver and stomach.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are the best known in the world for the following diseases: Ague, Asthma, Bilious Complaints, Blotches on the Skin, Bowels, Consumption, Debility, Dropsy, Dysentery, Erysipelas, Female Irregularities, Fevers of all kinds, Fits, Gout, Headache, Indigestion, Inflammation, Jaundice, Liver Complaints, Lumbago, Piles, Rheumatism, Retention of Urine, Scrofula or King's Evil, Sore Throats, Stone and Gravel, Tic-Douloureux, Tumors, Ulcers, Worms of all kinds, Weakness from any cause, etc.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

None are genuine unless the signature of J. HAYDOCK, as agent for the United States, surrounds each box of Pills and Ointment. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the manufactory of PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY & CO., New York, and by all respectable druggists and dealers in medicine throughout the civilized world, in boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents and $1 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents executed on reasonable terms, with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Com'r of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP,

For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for
